

Conservative Judaism: Halakhah, Culture and Sociology

Tuesday - Wednesday, December 29th-30th, 2009
at The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute

The Conservative Movement – one of the large religious movements in the Jewish world – is undergoing one of the most interesting and momentous periods in its history. The tension it has generated gives expression to the cultural, philosophical and ideological transitions this religious movement has made towards the social discourse and experience of the 21st century.

Acknowledging the need to attain in-depth understanding of contemporary Conservative Jewry, encompassing its historic, halakhic, cultural, sociological, theological and educational elements, and in order to come to grips with the changes in these perspectives, The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute established a research group (as part of the "Streams of Judaism" project). Participants included scholars from various disciplines who examined basic issues, processes, ideas and phenomena associated with this stream of Judaism. The papers presented at this conference include the studies produced by this research group as well as scholarly works of renowned experts in this field from Israel and abroad.

Tuesday, December 29th, 2009

09:45 - 10:15

Gathering

10:15 - 10:45

Opening Session

Greetings: Prof. Gabriel Motzkin, Head, The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute (VLJI)
Rabbi Prof. Naftali Rothenberg, Jewish Culture and Identity Chair, VLJI

Opening Remarks: Dr. Avinoam Rosenak, Conference Chair

10:45 - 12:45

History

Chair: Prof. Chaim I. Waxman

Prof. Michael A. Meyer, Conservative Judaism from the Perspective of Reform Judaism

Prof. Jonathan D. Sarna, How and When Orthodox and Conservative Judaism Split into Two Different Movements

Prof. Eli Lederhendler, Jewish Middle-Class Ethnicity?

Prof. Guy Miron, In Search of a Usable Past: On the German Roots of Conservative Judaism in America

12:45 - 13:45 Lunch Break

13:45 - 15:45

Sociology and Culture

Chair: Dr. Uzi Rebhun

Prof. Sylvia Barack Fishman, Conservative Elite Migration: Fluidity and Reconstruction in a Pan-Denominational Era

Dr. Adam Ferziger, The Conservative Synagogue Sanctuary as a Framework for Boundary Definition in Response to Assimilation and Intermarriage

Deby Babis, "Importing a Religious Stream" - The Conservative Movement in Latin-American Jewry

Prof. Steven M. Cohen, From Movement to Terrain: Post-Denominational Influences on Conservative Judaism in North America

16:00 - 18:00

Theology and Philosophy

Chair: Dr. Esther Eisenmann

Prof. Hanan Alexander, Two Concepts of Conservative Judaism

Dr. Ari Ackerman, Individualizing and Universalizing the Jewish People: Mordecai M. Kaplan and Mid-Twentieth Century Conservative Theology

Dr. Hanoch Ben Pazi, The Philosophical Discourse on Tradition in the Conservative Movement

Prof. Yaakov Ariel, Walking Separately or Together? The Conservative and Renewal Movements in Contemporary Judaism

18:15 - 20:30

Evening Session – Keynote Address

Chair: Rabbi Prof. Naftali Rothenberg

Prof. Arnold M. Eisen, Torah, Mitzvah, and Community:

Charting the Future of Conservative Judaism

Respondents:

Prof. Sylvia Barack Fishman

Prof. Eliezer Schweid

Prof. Lee Levine

Wednesday, December 30th, 2009

09:30 - 11:00

Aspects and Phenomena in the Israeli Masorti Movement

Chair: Prof. Tamar El-Or

Dr. Elana Sztokman, Conservative Culture and Israeli Culture: A Male-Ethnographic Perspective

Dr. Kobi Cohen-Hattab, Exclusion and Rebellion against Authority - The Conservative Movement and Prayer at 'Keshet Robinson': A Chapter in an Israeli Public Campaign

Dr. Michal Muszkat-Barkan, Educational Ideologies: TAL Schools and the Conservative Movement – Teachers, Prayers and Education for Prayer

11:15 - 12:45

Gender and Tradition

Chair: Dafna Schreiber

Dr. Rachel Gordin, The Struggle for Ordination of Women in the Conservative Movement

Yakir Englander, The Conservative Movement's Attitude towards Gay Sex: A Critical Analysis

Rabbi Prof. David Golinkin, The Status of Women in Jewish Law in the Conservative Movement

12:45 - 13:45 Lunch Break

13:45 - 15:45

Halakhah, Meta-Halakhah and Philosophy

Chair: Dr. Shmuel Wygoda

Dr. Ariel Picard, The Shabbat in Conservative Halakhic Rulings

Avraham Slater, Conservative Halakhic Rulings: 'Yashan Mipnei Hadash Totzi'u? Does the Old Really Give Way to the New?

Rabbi Dr. Einat Ramon, The Halakhic Philosophy of Max Kadushin

Prof. David Halivni, What Attracted the Greatest Judaic Scholars to the Jewish Theological Seminary During Prof. Louis Finkelstein's Incumbency?

16:00 - 18:00

Challenges Posed By the Conservative Movement to Other Movements

Chair: Prof. Tamar Ross

Dr. Meir Buzaglo, The Conservative Movement and Challenges for Judaism in Israel

Rabbi Prof. Yehoyada Amir, The Masorti Movement - Challenges, Concerns and Hopes: An Israeli-Reform Perspective

Dr. Aviad Hacoen, The Distinctiveness and Goals of the Conservative Halakhic Discourse:

Between the Orthodox Hammer and the Reform Anvil

Respondent: Rabbi Prof. Reuven Hammer

18:15 - 21:00

Concluding Symposium:

Halakhah and the Limits of Openness

Chair: Dr. Avinoam Rosenak

Prof. Arnold M. Eisen

Rabbi Prof. Joel Roth

Rabbi Prof. David Golinkin

Rabbi Dr. Avram I. Reisner

Concluding Remarks:

Dr. Avinoam Rosenak